

ABSTRACT

A woven band having cold light effect includes a woven band body which consists of a plurality of warp yarns and weft yarns. The warp yarns include at least one cold light fiber 5 which is laid on the front and rear surface of the woven band body. The woven band thus formed may be widely used as a basic material in various industries. The woven band body can generate colored light at night to provide ornamental and alarming functions.